Love in LOCKDOWN

Sharon Horgan and James McAvoy star as an unhappily married couple stuck at home during the pandemic

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Together

Thu, BBC2 HD, 9pm (not Wales)

The pressures of lockdown life on a marriage are laid bare in BBC2's funny and poignant one-off drama, Together, which begins during the first COVID-19 lockdown last year.

His Dark Materials' James McAvoy and Catastrophe's Sharon Horgan play a couple, called simply He and She, who have spent years quietly hating each other and have only stayed together for the sake of their 10-year-old son Arthur.

They hurl insults around like confetti and argue about everything from their jobs and politics to whether their son should be called Arthur or Arty for short and regularly break the fourth wall to rage at the camera.

But as the COVID death toll rises and they remain stuck at home together, the couple are forced to re-evaluate their failing marriage, especially when a heartbreaking family tragedy changes everything.

Here, McAvoy 42, and Horgan, 50, tell us more about their timely drama, shot over just 10 days…

What is the premise of Together?

Horgan The overall premise is a really simple one. It's about two people who can't stand each other being stuck together during lockdown, and we go through a mad journey with them. Essentially it's about their relationship and how they find a way to come together over the course of the lockdown.

How would you describe the couple's relationship?

McAvoy He loves his son very much and I think both He and She have stayed together for their child. There's not too much love or companionship in the relationship and there's certainly no hanky-panky. As much as the pandemic is really bad for everyone, they start off the film by outlining why it's so desperately terrible for them. Like it's somehow worse for them because they don't like each other.

> 'The audience will get a real feeling of being trapped inside this house'
> JAMES McAVOY

What time period does the drama cover?

Horgan It takes place across a year from the beginning of the first lockdown. There's quite a big jump in the middle where James and I both had to have hair extensions because we were trying to work out how you show the time passing. For a lot of people, it was all about their hair, with people ending up with these nutty hairdos. I got these luxurious locks – it was sort of embarrassing! – and James got a man bun, which he properly rocked.

Does He change emotionally during that time?

McAvoy He goes from being this quite insensitive, unfeeling, thoughtless person to being a bit more conscientious and a bit more sensitive to the people around him. Not just his partner and his son but to the world at large, which he was pretty unflinchingly brutal about previously. He definitely becomes a much more feeling, caring person through the pandemic. It also looks at self-reflection, which a lot of people talked about during the pandemic.

How do you make a dialogue-led drama visually interesting?

McAvoy What's really lovely about this is that the audience will get a real feeling of being trapped inside this house with them. If you're going to spend a year in someone's house, you've got to see how they behave. You've got to see them making a cup of tea or dinner. I think all that behaviour, walking about, making aubergine curry, while all the time discussing your deepest, darkest truths that you've just discovered in your life makes it all a bit more relatable.

What would you like viewers to take away from Together?

Horgan I hope that there'll be something intriguing about the story of this couple because that's such a starting point, isn't it? I mean we're all voyeuristic in that way. We want to know how other people coped and how relationships worked out during that period. I'm hoping that people will come to it for that and then stick around and listen. It would just be such a desperate thing for people to not really think about what happened.

A mudslide hits as emergency drama 9-1-1 and its spin-off return...

NEW DRAMA

9-1-1
Monday, Sky Witness HD, 9pm

9-1-1: Lone Star
Monday, Sky Witness HD, 10pm

All-action US drama 9-1-1 can always be relied upon for its jaw-dropping disasters – and this week's episode features one of the most heart-stopping emergencies yet.

As the series returns for a fourth season, the team of dedicated paramedics, firefighters and cops find themselves caught up in a terrifying new crisis when seismic activity causes the Hollywood Reservoir dam to break, leading to massive flooding and catastrophic mudslides.

As the team rushes to help the casualties of a bus crash and a cyclist swept into an underground pipe, Athena (Angela Bassett) responds to an agoraphobic woman named Sylvia (Lilli Birdsell), who cannot evacuate her house.

As Athena tries to get her to safety, the landslide threatens to destroy everything in its path, including the famous Hollywood sign. Will it come crashing down, with Athena trapped in the house?

'When a disaster of that kind hits, you better worry about every member of your team,' says showrunner Tim Minear. 'A lot of viewers tune into the show for the emergencies. But 9-1-1 is also about good people doing the right things and caring about each other.'

The show's spin-off, 9-1-1: Lone Star, also returns for a second season on Monday, with Rob Lowe reprising his role as firefighter chief Owen Strand, who relocated from New York to Texas.

This time, Gina Torres is joining the cast as Tommy Vega, the new paramedic captain. There'll also be a special crossover later in the run when 9-1-1's Hen, Eddie and Buck travel to Texas to help their fellow firefighters tackle a wildfire.

'We haven't really featured a big wildfire on 9-1-1, because the show takes place in California, and we didn't want to make entertainment out of the devastation that has happened here,' says Minear. 'Also, by setting the fire in Texas, it's a very logical way of getting firefighters from different states to work with each other because that's what they do in real life.'

Gotham City faces a terrifying new villain as Batwoman battles Black Mask

Javicia Leslie as Batwoman

SUPERHERO DRAMA

Batwoman

Sunday, E4 HD, 12.20am

Last week's episode of Batwoman ended one of the biggest mysteries in the superhero drama – with the revelation that Kate Kane, the former Batwoman, is not dead after all, but very much alive.

This week, we discover that the badly beaten Kate (played from now on by Wallis Day, after Ruby Rose departed the show at the end of the first season) is being held hostage by Black Mask, a sinister new villain, who is the alter-ego of charismatic cosmetics executive Roman Sionis.

As Black Mask, he has a deep hatred of the Gotham elite and is set on getting revenge on Kate, who he believes killed his daughter, Circe.

'He wants vengeance on anything that represents the hypocrisy of Gotham City, and he's determined to bring them down,' says Peter Outerbridge, who plays him. 'He has a very clear reason for everything he does. He has big plans for Kate and there's a long endgame in play.'

Meanwhile, Ryan Wilder (Javicia Leslie), who took over Batwoman's mantle after Kate's apparent death, is busy trying to stop Gotham City being blighted by Snakebite, a new designer drug being peddled by the False Face Society under the leadership of Roman/Black Mask.

THIS IS PERSONAL

'Batwoman has this particular vendetta against the False Face Society because the idea of drugs permeating the city and nobody taking any responsibility for it strikes at her core,' says showrunner Caroline Dries.

'While Ryan never used drugs, she was in a relationship where somebody was using drugs and it's ultimately what got Ryan put away in jail. That's a huge piece of her backstory, so that's something we're exploring this year.'

The character of Black Mask was first introduced in the 1980s and most recently portrayed on screen by Ewan McGregor in the 2020 movie Birds of Prey.

New villain Black Mask (Peter Outerbridge)

'I grew up on comics, so I was totally thrilled to get the role,' says Outerbridge, whose credits include Nikita and Orphan Black. 'There have been so many iterations of Black Mask. Sometimes he's kind of Joker-like, and making wisecracks all over the place, but we've gone back to the origin stories and made him more bitter, and full of menace and gravitas. He's a man on a mission of vengeance.'

PERFECT FIT

In order to play the role, Outerbridge had a cast made of his head so that the production team could create a made-to-measure mask.

'It fits perfectly,' he says. 'Once that mask goes on, you become like Hannibal Lecter. The first time I had my mask fitting, I was like, "I'm never taking this off."'

Black Mask isn't the only new villain introduced this week. We also see him join forces with a mysterious character, appropriately called Enigma.

'Black Mask intends to work with Enigma to further the ends of his Kate project,' teases Outerbridge. 'It remains to be seen what he actually intends to do, but certainly, mind manipulation is going to be a part of his master plan.'

A sea monster turns into a human boy in a stunning Pixar animation

Making waves

NEW FROM Disney+

NEW ANIMATION

Luca

From Friday 18 June, Disney+

Jacob Tremblay is only 14, but the child actor already has a CV that would be envied by actors four times his age. After a remarkable performance alongside Brie Larson as a little boy held captive with his mother in 2016 thriller Room, he won plaudits as a youngster with facial disfigurement in 2017's acclaimed drama Wonder with Julia Roberts.

Now, he's the star of the spectacular new Pixar animation Luca, airing on Disney+. The film sees him voice the titular shy sea monster, who lives with his family off the Italian coast but yearns to experience the world of humans.

He gets his opportunity when he encounters another young sea monster, self-assured Alberto, who lures him out of the water. But Luca is in for a shock, because, on land, the pair turn into human boys. Alberto soon teaches Luca how to adjust to life out of the sea and a strong friendship is forged as the teenagers dream of riding a Vespa scooter.

'Luca's nervous because his parents are super-protective and they tell him that it's scary above the water,' Tremblay explains to TV&Satellite Week. 'So he's timid, while Alberto is brave, and he helps Luca come out of his shell. But Luca also helps Alberto, who's not as smart.'

Jacob Tremblay voices Luca

Heading into the picturesque seaside town of Portorosso, Luca and Alberto embark on a thrilling escapade as they prepare to join plucky local girl Giulia in a triathlon against town bully Ercole in the hope of winning the prize money and getting a Vespa. But danger threatens, as a splash of water could see the boys revert to their original form.

'Vespas symbolise freedom, and Giulia shows them both that maybe the human world isn't so bad,' says Tremblay. 'But there are people who are trying to get the sea monsters…'

NEW ADVENTURES

For Tremblay, appearing in a Disney Pixar film is a dream come true.

'Pixar films were a great part of my childhood. Lightning McQueen [from Cars] was my favourite character,' he says. 'So to be a part of a Pixar film, and have younger kids look up to these characters, it's really cool.'

Another Disney voyage under the sea is on the cards for Tremblay next, as he'll be voicing the cute tropical fish Flounder in the forthcoming live-action remake of The Little Mermaid, and the young actor has big ambitions.

'I want to continue acting and explore directing and film-making,' he says. 'I've had ideas of having my own script and having people enjoy something I've created. I really look up to Steven Spielberg and George Lucas.'

COMEDY

Intelligence

Tuesday, Sky One HD, 10pm & 10.30pm

Having an actor from one of TV's most popular sitcoms as the leading man in your first comedy is every aspiring writer's dream.

So, after the success of last year's first season of Intelligence, Nick Mohammed was delighted to work with his pal David Schwimmer on a second instalment of the wacky show set in GCHQ's cybercrimes unit, CySec.

The Friends star plays blundering NSA agent Jerry Bernstein, who's been assigned to the UK's spy headquarters as part of an intelligence-sharing initiative – where he works alongside his faithful sidekick Joseph Harries (played by Mohammed).

We saw the pair battling to save Britain from nuclear disaster last week, and in this week's double bill we see their growing friendship blossom into a bromance.

BUDDY COMEDY

'The pair of them often take a pop at each other, and Jerry doles it out to Joseph, but the two of them have got that kind of brotherly quality,' says Mohammed. 'There's a mutual love, so they can get away with talking to each other like that.'

Local girl Giulia with Luca and Alberto

'Luca's parents are super-protective and they tell him that it's scary above the water'

JACOB TREMBLAY

Joseph, however, has real romance on his mind in the second episode of Tuesday's double bill, when he goes out with Charlotte – played by Motherland star Diane Morgan – a colleague specialising in sex trafficking.

'They start off having a digital-only relationship because Charlotte is based in another office, but she finally comes over and the pair of them go on a dinner date,' says Mohammed, 40. 'Diane is a good mate and she's just terrific.'

David Schwimmer plays NSA agent Jerry

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Morgan's not this week's only guest star – Morgana Robinson appears in the double bill's first episode as Hilary Bowen, who leads a harassment-and-discrimination training day at CySec.

Will Jerry's outrageous work-based behaviour finally be curbed?

'The episode with Morgana is one of my favourites as every single character gets to chip in their opinion,' says Mohammed. 'And it's a super-fun one for Jerry because he oversteps every single mark and gets caught in his own trap.'

Flying the FLAG

A family struggle through the Last Night of the Proms in Inside No. 9's series finale

LAST ONE COMEDY

Inside No. 9

Mon, BBC2 HD, 10pm (times vary)

With Union Jack bunting and a sizeable buffet, one family are ready to watch the Last Night of the Proms on TV in this week's Inside No. 9 series finale. But while the atmosphere in the Royal Albert Hall is celebratory, the mood is not quite so buoyant in this particular household.

The party is being thrown by Mick (Steve Pemberton) and Dawn (Sarah Parish), who enjoy the pomp and patriotism of the event. They're joined by Dawn's confused dad Ralph (Julian Glover), her sister Penny (Debra Gillett), Penny's irascible husband Brian (Reece Shearsmith), and Penny and Brian's teenage son Oliver (Jack Wolfe).

As a classical-music aficionado and general nitpicker, Brian gets irritated by Dawn singing the wrong words. But what begins as a normal evening of bickering over popular culture and politics spirals out of control when an unexpected guest turns up…

'We're always thinking, "Have we done this before in another episode?"' says Shearsmith, 51. 'We have done so many different stories now that we always want to find a new way of telling them. This one is all set to music at the Proms, and a lot of it is told through music. We really wanted to play that to the hilt, as it felt like a very different way of telling a story.'

Dawn and Ralph are shocked by the arrival of an unexpected guest

This week's instalment brings the total number of Inside No. 9 episodes to 37, and, with a seventh series due to start production soon, Pemberton and Shearsmith still hold themselves to a high standard when it comes to developing ideas for new stories.

Fortunately, the flexibility of the anthology format means that there is plenty of life in the series yet – and new fans are discovering it all the time.

'We knew after the first series that we had something quite special,' says Pemberton, 53. 'The reaction to some of the episodes was phenomenal – some of the best reactions we've ever had. It still feels like people are saying the show is under the radar, even though we're on series six.

ENDLESS POSSIBILITIES

'An awful lot of people don't know about it, or, maybe because of the very diverse nature of the episodes, perhaps have watched one and not realised that next week it's something completely different.

'But we're delighted to still be doing it because it doesn't get boring. We're not having to rehash the same tropes, we're not having to keep characters going, and we can start fresh every week – and that provides its own challenge. Theoretically, we shouldn't run out of ideas – anything could be a No. 9!'

LAST ONE Russell Howard Stands Up to the World

Monday, Sky One HD, 9pm

The musician, songwriter and comedian was born in Northampton to Aussie parents and raised in Perth, Australia. He is best known for his musical-comedy shows and as the award-winning composer and lyricist of Matilda the Musical and Groundhog Day the Musical. On TV, he had a recurring role in the David Duchovny drama Californication in 2013, and in 2019 he starred in the Sky Atlantic road trip drama Upright.

HIS NEW APPEARANCE

This week, Minchin meets up with Russell Howard as the British comedian concludes his three-part trip to New Zealand and Australia with a jaunt around New South Wales and Queensland. In Sydney, the pair enjoy a barbecue. 'Tim is the cleverest bloke I know and we had a great chat about Aussie slang. I didn't know that Aussies never actually talk about shrimps on the barbie,' says Howard, who also explores the tradition of toilet racing and meets some real-life mermaids.

Stephen Graham's prison guard faces a terrible dilemma in Jimmy McGovern's compelling drama

Under pressure

DRAMA

Time

Sunday, BBC1 HD, 9pm

Stephen Graham has tackled plenty of challenging roles in his time, from gangster Al Capone in Boardwalk Empire to an ill-fated undercover cop in Line of Duty. But BBC1 prison drama Time, in which he plays stressed, put-upon prison officer Eric McNally, is proving one of the most demanding of his career.

Last week saw Eric receive a shock when a menacing inmate revealed that he knew Eric's son David was serving time in another prison and implied that if he wanted to keep David safe, Eric would have to do a favour for him and his gang.

FIGHTING FOR HIS SON

A concerned Eric swiftly got David transferred to a new jail, but the gang members appear to have found out where he is. This week, Eric and wife Sonia – played by Graham's real-life other half, Hannah Walters – discover that David is still in danger.

Will the usually efficient, considerate guard give in to the gang's demands and put his career at risk to protect his son, or will he stick to his principles?

'Eric's got a nice home and a loving wife. Everything was looking rosy and now these inmates have found out about his son,' explains Graham. 'It's a moral dilemma, and the audience will have sympathy with Eric.'

COOKERY

Big Zuu's Big Eats

Monday, Dave HD, 10pm

Self-taught chef and grime artist Big Zuu is back in his food truck this week to cook up a dream menu for comedian James Acaster. We met Acaster to hear how it went.

What did Big Zuu rustle up for you? I love poppadoms so much, so he made me these

Hannah Walters, Stephen Graham and Paddy Rowan as the McNally family

While dealing with his own quandary, Eric is also trying his best to support guilt-ridden inmate Mark Cobden (Sean Bean). While serving his sentence, Mark wants to write to the wife of the man he accidentally killed, but he is also being intimidated by aggressive prisoners.

'It's a great old-fashioned narrative between these two men who are both on this journey of self-discovery,' says Graham. 'It's about themes of shame, guilt, honour and loyalty and that moral compass within each individual.'

For Graham, 47, reuniting with the drama's creator, award-winning writer Jimmy McGovern, has been a treat. The pair previously worked together on acclaimed anthology dramas Accused and The Street.

'Jimmy tells the story of the human condition in an amazing way,' enthuses Graham. 'With Jimmy, you're guaranteed that your character is going to come up against conflict, a massive life decision, or some big trauma. You know you're in for a great ride.'

potato croquettes with loads of spices, covered in poppadoms, deep fried. It was amazing.

As a stand-up, did you have a bad diet on the road? Yeah, we all go through that phase of having a pasty at a service station. But you can't live like that forever. I've been cooking a lot more this year because of lockdown.

Is it true you used to work as a pot washer? Yes, and it was oddly satisfying. Restaurant kitchens aren't always the most positive environment; people can be mean. So pot washing was quite a therapeutic counterpoint to that.

James Acaster in the Bake Off tent

You host a food podcast, Off Menu. What's been the biggest revelation from a guest? Claudia Winkleman said she's never knowingly drunk water, and Jordan Banjo did as well. He said it reminded him too much of spit.

Were you disappointed by your kitchen skills in Celebrity Bake Off in 2019? I was disappointed with how stressful it was. The flapjacks in the first round went badly, so then I had zero confidence going into the technical. For the showstopper I just enjoyed myself and messed around, because I was like, 'If I try doing anything, I'm going to have a complete meltdown.'

What else can I watch?

Dean and Stewart in court

LAST ONE The Grinder

Wed, FOX HD, 9pm & 9.30pm

It's the last-ever episode of the enjoyable legal comedy starring Rob Lowe and Fred Savage as attorney brothers Dean and Stewart after the series was axed after just one season. The finale sees the return of prosecutor Leonard Velance (Silicon Valley's Kumail Nanjiani), who lost a big case to Dean in the first episode, and who is now obsessed with revenge. Lowe admits he was disappointed when he was told that the show had not been renewed. 'The Grinder was unapologetically original, smart, funny and had a murderers' row of talent,' he says. 'But I'm thrilled to have made 22 episodes that were as acclaimed as they were. It was time well spent.'

LAST ONE The Great British Sewing Bee

Wednesday, BBC1 HD, 9pm

The stakes are high and stress levels soaring as the three finalists compete for the title of Britain's best amateur sewer. The trio must impress judges Esme Young and Patrick Grant by rustling up a bridesmaid's dress with puff sleeves, turning cushion covers into festival garb, and creating a unique evening gown.

MacGyver

Sunday, Sky One HD, 9pm

Emmy-winning actor Joe Pantoliano, who played ill-fated mobster Ralphie in The Sopranos, guest stars in this week's episode as an imprisoned killer, Vietnam veteran Eric Andrews. When Russ is kidnapped by Leland, he demands that Mac and the team break Eric out from prison and exchange him for Russ...

Let's get physical

Rose Byrne stars as a tormented housewife who turns her love of aerobics into a career

Byrne as Sheila with her daughter Maya (Grace Kelly Quigley)

The best of Netflix, Amazon, BBC iPlayer and more...

Physical

NEW Genre: Comedy drama Available: Fri 18 June Season: 1 Episodes: 10 (released weekly) Runs: 60min TVSW says: Rose Byrne dazzles in a darkly comic drama of self-loathing and leotards

In the 1980s, aerobics was the fashionable new exercise choice for busy women – but in Apple TV+'s new comedy drama Physical, a housewife goes one step further and translates her aptitude for keep-fit into a lucrative new career as one of the first female lifestyle gurus.

Rose Byrne plays Sheila Rubin, whose days are primarily occupied by running errands, supporting her husband's political aspirations, and relentlessly tearing herself to shreds in a vicious inner monologue where she constantly derides herself as fat, lazy, useless and disgusting – relieved only by bouts of bingeing and purging fast food alone in a motel room.

One day, just as Sheila realises that her spirals of self-loathing have almost entirely depleted the family's savings, she follows a stranger on impulse and ends up in an aerobics class. Entranced by the music, the movement, and the motivation, Sheila suddenly feels a new sense of power and self-worth – and aerobics becomes the catalyst for her transformation.

TV&Satellite Week joined Byrne, 41, for a video call to find out more…

How would you describe Sheila's life at the start of the series? When we meet her, she's really at breaking point – she's in an incredibly dysfunctional marriage, she's ambivalent about motherhood, and she has an addiction that's ruining her life. As the chapters unfold, she starts to do some pretty compromising and ruthless things. For me, it was all about rooting for her, and figuring out how the audience would root for Sheila too.

Sheila's intensely self-critical inner monologue hits very hard – what was it like to play that side of her character? Deeply uncomfortable! She's obviously self-destructive and the show doesn't pull any punches with that. But it really resonates with people who've already seen it – it's the human condition, unfortunately.

What were the aerobics outfits like to wear? Back then, women would hand-stitch their own leotards – so Kameron Lennox, our costume designer, fitted me within an inch of my life. I could have been doing a Marvel movie – I had more fittings than I've ever had in my life!

How does Sheila's journey tie in with the feminist movement of the 1980s? Sheila is a former activist, yet she's feeling pretty untethered and has no agency as a person. This was the start of women finding economic independence – it was still hard to get a loan if you didn't have your husband on the paperwork. Things we take for granted were still pretty challenging then, and women found an opportunity for business in the wellness space, and through that, economic independence – which has its own power.

Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes 10 Runs: 40-49 min

'Panic's tone wobbles between teen thriller, à la Halloween, and small-town soaps such as Riverdale and One Tree Hill, before dissolving into a touch of outlandish magical realism,' said one reviewer of this drama about a group of students in rural Texas taking part in dangerous challenges to win big money.

Blue Miracle

NETFLIX

Genre: Drama Runs: 96min

Critics have warmed to this true story of orphans at a Mexican boys' home entering a major offshore fishing tournament to win the money needed to save their cash-strapped orphanage. Dennis Quaid plays the washed-up boat captain they team up with. 'This funny, heart-warming movie provides just the right combination of adventure, character-driven humour, spiritual depth and inspirational uplift,' said one critic. Other reviewers agreed, calling the film 'charming' and 'hard to resist' and praised its 'strong performances and suspenseful fishing action.'

Hamilton*'s Jasmine Cephas Jones stars in this continuation of the 2018 movie of the same name, which sees her character Ashley's partner Miles (series co-creator Rafael Casal) jailed. Strapped for cash and with a six-year-old son to support, Ashley moves in with Miles' mother, Rainey (Helen Hunt), and his half-sister Trish (Jaylen Barron). The series spotlights Ashley's inner turmoil with scenes where she addresses the camera in verse, and characters break into stylised choreography. 'The storytelling is one of my favourite parts of the show,' says Cephas Jones. 'The show is so funny, and also has really heart-wrenching moments.'

Penguin Town

NETFLIX

NEW Genre: Wildlife documentary Available: Wednesday 16 June Season: 1 Episodes: 8 TVSW says: Informative and fun

Every year, hundreds of African penguins descend on the balmy seaside resort of Simon's Town in South Africa in order to nest. In this insightful eight-part series, cameras follow the extraordinary colony over one season – as they mingle with tourists and hold up traffic, all while trying to raise their young. The flightless birds are believed to be one of the first penguins encountered by humans, but sadly they're also endangered, with numbers having declined by 60 per cent in the last three decades. 'The penguin takeover begins every November,' explains actor Patton Oswalt, of Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. fame, who narrates the series. 'More than 1,000 penguin couples live in Simon's Town in the mating season, and they have six months to complete their most important mission – choose a partner, stake a claim to some territory, and make more penguins.'

Bringing up baby

Comedian Kevin Hart gets serious in a touching drama about a single father

Kevin Hart as Matt, who faces raising baby Maddy alone

Alfre Woodard plays Marian

NETFLIX Fatherhood

NEW Genre: Drama Available: Friday 18 June Runs: 109min
TVSW says: Hart shows off his acting chops

Comedian Kevin Hart takes on drama in this heart-warming true story about a widower coming to terms with raising his daughter by himself after the death of his wife.

The one-off is based on a memoir written by Matthew Logelin which documents his grief and sudden single parenthood following the death of his wife just hours after the birth of the couple's first child.

'Matthew's life got flipped upside down,' says Hart. 'Rather than giving up, he had to figure out a way to stick with what life has thrown at him and make the best of it.'

ROLE MODEL

The drama follows Matthew as he attends parent-and-baby groups, gets unsolicited advice from family members, including mother-in-law Marian (Alfre Woodard), and fields a barrage of questions from curious daughter Maddy as she grows up.

Hart says he took on the role to show black fathers in a positive light.

'For some time, on the screen, if we're not getting out of jail or on drugs, there's a significant struggle behind the image of a black father, and this is an opportunity to put it in a space of positivity,' he says.

Off-screen, Hart had his fourth child in September, a girl named Kaori Mai, and he drew on his own experiences for the role.

'Being a dad is a feeling like no other,' he says. 'I didn't come from the kind of family that ate dinner together every night, so the fact that I've broken the mould means the world to me.'

In fact, Hart is so smitten with being a dad that he's just written a children's book called Marcus Makes a Movie, about a boy who has a dream to make a blockbuster superhero film – and Hart hopes that the book will inspire kids to chase their dreams.

'This is really an opportunity to motivate and inspire our youth,' he says. 'It's about understanding that your dream is just that, it's yours – and nobody can ever tell you that it's not true.'

Former ISIS bride Shamima Begum tells her extraordinary story

NEW FACTUAL

The Return: Life after Isis

Tue, Sky Documentaries HD, 9pm

British schoolgirl Shamima Begum was 15 years old when she left the UK for Syria in 2015 to join militant terrorist group ISIS with two friends, Amira Abase and Kadiza Sultana.

Now, in a powerful documentary filmed at a refugee camp in Syria, Begum tells her story on camera for the first time, along with other ISIS brides from the Netherlands, Germany, Canada and the USA, who were all stranded in the camp following the fall of Islamic State.

'It started with learning my religion, and it turned into wanting to come to Syria,' recalls Begum, now 21, of her decision to leave home. 'I would see videos of Syrians being bombed, babies covered in blood. Those videos made me feel really guilty, and I just wanted to be a part of something.'

Inside Tesco: 24/7

Wednesday, Channel 5 HD, 7pm

Tesco is Britain's biggest supermarket chain, with more than 3,500 stores and a yearly £57 billion turnover, but the retail giant came from humble beginnings. This three-parter starts with its origins in 1919, when demobbed soldier Jack Cohen set up a market stall selling army surplus goods.

Thousands of women and children are in Syrian camps

However, when the girls arrived in Syria, they found the reality of their new life very different from what they had imagined.

Ten days after arriving in Syria, Begum married Dutch-born convert Yago Riedijk, with whom she had three children. All three died in infancy – the third of pneumonia in a refugee camp – and her friends Abase and Sultana were reportedly killed in air strikes.

'My heart just broke, I couldn't handle it,' says Begum of the death of her youngest. 'He was my last hope. He was the only thing keeping me alive.'

She became front-page news again in 2019 when, after the final ISIS stronghold in Syria was captured, she gave interviews from her refugee camp.

'I had no choice but to say certain things, because I lived in fear,' she says. 'And most journalists had the intention of making me look bad.'

Begum was promptly stripped of her British citizenship. Although the Court of Appeal ruled that Begum could return to the UK to contest the decision, that verdict was overturned by the Supreme Court in February of this year.

Now she is one of around 64,000 ISIS women and children left in Syrian camps, with plenty of time to look back at her life-changing decision. However, she remains hopeful that she may yet be allowed to come home.

'I would say to the people in the UK, give me a second chance, because I was still young when I left,' she says. 'I just want them to put aside everything they've heard about me in the media, and have an open mind about why I left and who I am now as a person.

'I was young and naive and I thought I knew everything, that I was right and everyone else was wrong. I just want a second chance.'

NEW FACTUAL

Summer on the Farm

Mon-Fri, Channel 5 HD, 8pm

Summer is a busy time of year for farming, and Helen Skelton and the gang will be making hay while the sun shines as Summer on the Farm airs a week of live shows on Channel 5.

'What really gets me buzzing is live TV, so it's particularly nice for me that, this week, Summer on the Farm is live,' says Skelton, who's hosting alongside Jules Hudson as they join brothers Rob and Dave Nicholson at Cannon Hall Farm near Barnsley, South Yorkshire. 'This is the show viewers have come to love, with a summer spin.'

The farm has been home to Springtime on the Farm for the past four years, and as the weather warms up, viewers can look forward to the births of a whole host of animals, says Skelton.

'On the Springtime series, all the animals played ball and there were lambs and piglets popping out left, right and centre,' she smiles. 'Cannon Hall is an open farm, so we expect lots of new arrivals this summer…'

There will be help on hand from Amanda Owen, star of Our Yorkshire Farm, while her teenage son Reuben will also be stopping by. Meanwhile, JB Gill will report from farms and food producers across the UK, and we'll also be catching up with Britain's youngest farmer, Joe Trofer-Cook.

NEW GROWTH

After a difficult 15 months, the Nicholson family are hoping this series will help sow the seeds for a happy summer.

'Because Cannon Hall Farm is a tourist attraction, it was unable to open throughout the pandemic, so I know that, for Rob and Dave, summer is a really key time for them in terms of welcoming people back,' says Skelton.

'Like any British tourist attraction, they need that swell of support in order to keep it operating as a business.'

Where'd You Go, Bernadette

PREMIERE OF THE WEEK

Cate Blanchett plots a reinvention in a quirky character-building exercise

COMEDY DRAMA

Friday, Sky Premiere HD, 8.50am & 8pm ★★★

Despite boasting an Oscar-winning star, a celebrated director and a best-selling source novel, Where'd You Go, Bernadette was released in the UK with virtually no fanfare.

That might suggest this quirky character-driven drama is a dud, but there's plenty to enjoy. Not as daring as some of director Richard Linklater's previous films (Before Sunrise, Boyhood), the film is nevertheless peppy and engaging.

Adapted from Maria Semple's novel, Where'd You Go, Bernadette concerns reclusive Bernadette (Cate Blanchett), formerly a star architect now confined to a rundown home in Seattle with husband Elgie (Billy Crudup, charming) and daughter Bee (likeable Emma Nelson).

Bernadette's main form of communication is with an online assistant she speaks to in voice notes. As her anxiety threatens to spiral out of control and tensions with nosy neighbour Audrey (Kristen Wiig) peak, a trip to Antarctica promises release…

While this comedic drama never truly soars, laugh-out-loud moments (the mudslide) and intriguing environments (from a modern tech company to a South Pole research station) add flavour, and the cast ensures that you root for the unconventional family, even through the credulity-stretching final act. MM 2019, 12, 108MIN

HORROR THRILLER

12 Hour Shift

Thursday, Sky Premiere HD, 7.15am & 10pm ★★★

A jet-black comedy that sees stoic but exhausted nurse Mandy (Angela Bettis) and her idiot cousin Regina (Chloe Farnworth) trying to find a kidney for a deadly organ trafficker. As the bodies pile up, so does the farcical nature – which also includes a cop-hating killer (David Arquette in a fun cameo) on the loose. It's ridiculously gory, but in a comic-book fashion. It may not reach the Fargo-esque heights it aims for, but it's entertaining, blood-soaked fun. NP 2020, 15, 86MIN

A superb account of Danish photojournalist Daniel Rye Ottosen and his kidnapping in Syria in 2013. Tortured, beaten and held for more than a year, Daniel (Esben Smed, excellent) builds a friendship with inmate James Foley (played with wonderful humility by Toby Kebbell). SCI-FI

Captive State

Monday, Sky Premiere HD, 12.20pm & 8pm ★★★

Another film unfairly shelved, this thoughtful but low-impact sci-fi drama is more interesting than its (lack of) reputation suggests. Set in a near-future Chicago, it imagines a world living under alien occupation. A chilling opening scene set in 2019 sees the aliens arrive, before the film immediately jumps to 2027, where humans have been existing under the thumb of the ET oppressors. It's a fascinating concept, and our main guides are two brothers whose parents were killed by the invaders: Gabriel (Ashton Sanders) and Rafe (Jonathan Majors), the leader of a resistance effort. Director Rupert Wyatt (Rise of the Planet of the Apes) scrimps on set-pieces, and at times it feels like it's more interesting in theory than practice but a classy supporting cast, including John Goodman and Vera Farmiga, and some cool tech (invisible explosives) add interest. MM 2019, 15, 109MIN

Foster Boy

Tuesday, Sky Premiere HD, 6.40am & 8pm ★★

What should have been a searing indictment of America's privatised foster care system is diluted in this poor take on a serious problem. Matthew Modine's corporate lawyer takes the case of teen Shane Paul McGhie, who was raped and beaten while in foster care. Rather than concentrating on McGhie's story, though, the film misguidedly follows Modine's transformation from uncaring snob to saviour railing against the system. NP 2019, 15, 109MIN

Writer-director Miranda July dials down her trademark quirkiness (but just a smidge) and finds real pathos in the story of an oddball con-artist family (Evan Rachel Wood, Richard Jenkins and Debra Winger) whose lives are upended by the arrival of Gina Rodriguez's outsider Melanie. This drama was inspired by the travails of Shields Green (forcefully played by Dayo Okeniyi), an escaped slave who took part in abolitionist John Brown's doomed raid on the American government's Harpers Ferry arsenal in 1859. The directorial debut of veteran producer Mark Amin, this action-packed drama is well stocked with incident, but flimsy characterisation and clumsy dialogue combine to undercut any lasting impact. TD 2020, 15, 99MIN

Michael Pitt's sceptical scientist falls for an other-worldly model (Astrid Bergès-Frisbey) in this intriguing sci-fi drama. He is attracted by her dazzling eyes, which for him are an evolutionary puzzle to be solved. As the tussle between rationalism and mysticism takes unexpected turns, the film is boosted by engaging acting and luminous photography, and works both as an intellectual mystery and a beguiling romance. 2014, 15, 106MIN

You won't know whether to laugh or cry when watching this dazzling dark comedy about the guys who made a killing from the global financial crash of 2008. Based on the book by Michael Lewis, the film shows how a 'bunch of weirdos and outsiders' (including Christian Bale, Steve Carell and Ryan Gosling) bet against the banks and won. With tongue-in-cheek humour, director Adam McKay makes the fact-based plot as gripping as a thriller. 2015, 15, 130MIN

Wealthy 1940s New York socialite Florence Foster Jenkins has gone down in history as the worst opera singer ever, yet in director Stephen Frears' tender, warm-hearted biopic she proves to be far more than a figure of fun as she pursues her musical dreams. Meryl Streep is a joy, reproducing the hideous racket Florence made with impressive fidelity, while Hugh Grant is typically droll as her supportive partner. 2016, PG, 110MIN

Keanu Reeves' impossibly cool, impossibly deadly and even more impossibly indestructible assassin dispatching dozens of foes made 2014's John Wick a guilty-pleasure treat. His lone avenger is still pulling off the inconceivable in this brazenly entertaining sequel. Scripted by Tina Fey, this delightful dissection of schoolgirl cliques downplays the comedy to such an extent that the funniest lines appear like afterthoughts. This epic crime drama is one of the very best American thrillers of the 1990s. Writer-director Michael Mann's movie revolves around the complex relationship between Robert De Niro's crook, who wants to pull off one last heist and retire, and Al Pacino's burnt-out cop, who's determined to stop him. ENGLAND V SCOTLAND

Football's coming home as the home nations kick off their Euro 2020 campaigns

LIVE FOOTBALL

Sat-Fri, BBC1 HD, ITV HD & S4C HD

Football fever will grip Britain as England, Scotland and Wales get their Euro campaigns underway, including a mouth-watering clash between England and Scotland on Friday (ITV HD, kick-off 8pm).

Fans of both nations are set to be inside Wembley Stadium for the much-anticipated Group D clash and ITV presenter Mark Pougatch expects an electric atmosphere.

'It's been so hard without the fans over the last year,' he says. 'They returned at the end of the season and we saw the difference they made. There might be only 22,500 for England against Scotland but I'm sure it will feel like 80,000.'

FEVER PITCH

While the fixture is sure to grab the headlines, both sides have equally important matches before then.

England, who play all their group games at Wembley, begin against Croatia on Sunday (BBC1 HD, kick-off 2pm), looking to avenge their heartbreaking defeat in the semi-final of the 2018 World Cup.

'England have real strength in depth for the first time in many years,' says Gary Lineker, who'll be hosting BBC1's coverage. 'Gareth Southgate will be able to rotate his squad and maintain a high-pressure game without lowering the standard. Phil Foden, Mason Mount and Jack Grealish are all fabulous young talents and with the likes of Raheem Sterling, Harry Kane and Marcus Rashford up front, the manager will have a problem picking his best team.'

There was jubilation in Scotland last year when Steve Clarke's men qualified for the Euros for the first time since 1996, and the Tartan Army will be cheering them on in their opening match against Czech Republic at Hampden Park on Monday (BBC1 HD, kick-off 2pm).

'Steve Clarke has freshened things up by bringing in some good young players, like Celtic's David Turnbull and Rangers' Nathan Patterson,' says former Scotland international James McFadden, who'll be part of the BBC's coverage. 'Everyone will be expecting us to lose to England at Wembley, but I think we can cause an upset.'

Dragon force

Former Wales boss Mark Hughes on his nation's chances...

Wales made it to the semi-finals during their memorable Euro 2016 adventures, and Robert Page's boys will be hoping to recapture that spirit this time out.

They begin their Group A campaign by travelling to Azerbaijan to face Switzerland in their opening fixture on Saturday (BBC1 HD & S4C HD, kick-off 2pm), and they stay in Baku to face a tough match against Turkey on Wednesday (BBC1 HD & S4C HD, kick-off 5pm), with thousands of Welsh fans set to make the 3,000-mile trip to see their team in action.

The Wales squad includes Manchester United's Daniel James, who played in the Europa League final against Villarreal last month, Chelsea's Ethan Ampadu, who was on loan at Sheffield United last season, and Liverpool's Harry Wilson, who was on loan at Cardiff City.

'It's a tough group that includes Italy, so the first game against Switzerland will be massive,' says former Wales manager Mark Hughes, who's part of the BBC team covering the tournament. 'Gareth Bale is our only genuinely world-class player and he will need to play well if Wales are to have an impact, but our biggest strength last time was the squad's togetherness, and we also have some exciting youngsters who'll show no fear.'

THE BATTLE OF BRITAIN

Three classic encounters between the old rivals...

Gazza's 1996 celebration

1999
SCOTLAND 1 ENGLAND 0

A place at Euro 2000 was at stake when the nations met in a two-legged play-off. Paul Scholes scored twice at Hampden Park in the first leg, before Don Hutchison gave Kevin Keegan's men a scare when he headed home in the 39th minute at Wembley. However, the Three Lions held off a Scottish onslaught to win 2-1 on aggregate.

1996
ENGLAND 2 SCOTLAND 0

The only previous match between the sides at a major tournament took place at Euro 96 at Wembley. The group game saw Alan Shearer head England into the lead and David Seaman save Gary McAllister's spot-kick, before Paul Gascoigne lifted the ball over Colin Hendry and drilled it into the net, sparking those famous 'dentist's chair' celebrations.

1977
ENGLAND 1 SCOTLAND 2

Mainly remembered for the pitch invasion at Wembley at the end of the game, this was a winner-takes-all affair, with the victor securing the Home Championship (remember that?). Goals from Gordon McQueen and Kenny Dalglish gave Ally MacLeod's side the lead, with Mick Channon scoring a consolation penalty.

STARS TO WATCH

Part of the France team that won Euro 2000, former Arsenal striker Thierry Henry is now working with Belgium. We asked him to choose the tournament's danger men...

KEVIN DE BRUYNE (Belgium)

'The playmaker has been world-class for Manchester City this season – he'll hope to be fit after his Champions League injury. I joined Belgium's coaching staff in the last World Cup and they have some fantastic players, such as Eden Hazard and Romelu Lukaku, so I think they will do well. Maybe I'm biased because I work with them…'

CRISTIANO RONALDO (Portugal)

'Ronaldo is the all-time top goalscorer in the Champions League, and you must respect what the Juventus forward has achieved in his career. He's leading a very dangerous Portugal team. They are the current holders, so we can't forget that. With players like Bruno Fernandes, João Félix and Manchester City defender Rúben Dias, they will be among the favourites.'

KARIM BENZEMA (France)

'France have some fantastic forwards in Kylian Mbappé and Antoine Griezmann, but now Real Madrid's Karim Benzema is back in the squad after many years away. France won the World Cup without him in 2018, but he is one of the best strikers in the world.'

Can Phil Mickelson join the golfing elite at Torrey Pines?

LIVE GOLF

From Thursday, Sky Sports Golf HD & Sky Sports Main Event HD

Phil Mickelson became the oldest player to win a major with victory in the PGA Championship last month, and now he's setting his sights on an elusive US Open title. With six majors in the bag, Mickelson – who turns 51 on 16 June – will tee off at Torrey Pines, California, aiming to join the group of five men (Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan, Gary Player, Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods) who have won the career grand slam. 'If I stay sharp mentally, I can play well at Torrey Pines,' says Mickelson, who has finished runner-up at the US Open a record six times. 'I'm going to put everything I have into it.'

LIVE TENNIS

Queen's Club Championships

From Monday, BBC2 HD & Amazon Prime Video

Fitness permitting, Sir Andy Murray will play singles at Queen's for the first time since 2018 when the grass-court tournament gets underway in west London this week. The Wimbledon warm-up event returns after being cancelled last year, and Murray will be hoping for a first victory since his fifth title in 2016. The singles includes Dan Evans, while Jamie Murray and partner Bruno Soares compete in the doubles, a title they won in 2017.

LIVE HORSE RACING

Royal Ascot

From Tuesday, ITV HD & ITV4 HD

There'll be 12,000 spectators each day at this year's five-day festival, which will feature seven races a day for the first time in its long history.

As usual, Thursday's Gold Cup will get most of the headlines as the legendary Stradivarius aims for a place in the history books with a record-equalling fourth consecutive victory after Frankie Dettori rode him to a 10-length triumph last year.

Everybody's Talking About Jamie

FIRST LOOK

A starry cast appears in a new take on the hit stage show

Max Harwood as teen drag queen Jamie New

Award-winning musical Everybody's Talking About Jamie has taken the West End by storm and now a glossy film version is coming to Amazon Prime Video on 17 September.

The film, inspired by Jamie Campbell, who appeared in 2011's BBC documentary Jamie: Drag Queen at 16, centres on Sheffield-based teenager Jamie New (Max Harwood), whose one ambition is to become a drag star. But not everyone in his school or family shares his enthusiasm as he dreams of a life of sequins and high heels.

Sarah Lancashire co-stars as Jamie's doting mum Margaret, while Ralph Ineson is his disapproving dad Wayne, and Richard E Grant is drag star Loco Chanelle, who helps Jamie prepare for his debut. Sharon Horgan plays Jamie's clueless careers adviser Miss Hedge and Lauren Patel is his best friend Pritti. Shobna Gulati, Adeel Akhtar and Samuel Bottomley also appear.

Packed full of toe-tapping tunes from the original score, the film will also see Frankie Goes to Hollywood's Holly Johnson perform a new song, This Was Me.

CELEBRATION

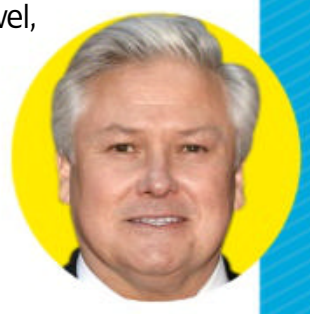
'I am thrilled that our film – the story of taking your place in the world with joy, pride and acceptance – will be winging its way across the world,' says director Jonathan Butterell. 'Let's come together to celebrate the glorious and fabulous uniqueness of each and every one of us.'

Richard E Grant (far right) plays a drag star who offers Jamie a helping hand

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Conleth Hill

In ITV drama Holding, directed by Kathy Burke and based on Graham Norton's debut novel, the Game of Thrones star plays a mild-mannered police officer in an Irish village who has to tackle his first serious crime.

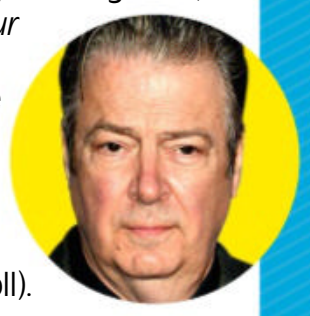


Arnold Schwarzenegger

The Hollywood legend will headline Netflix's as-yet-untitled spy drama about a father and daughter (Monica Barbaro) forced to work together after learning they have both been secretly employed by the CIA for years.

Roger Allam

BritBox drama Murder in Provence, based on novels by ML Longworth, stars the Endeavour actor as an investigating judge in the South of France who solves mysteries with his law-professor lover (Nancy Carroll).



Coming Back

C4's offbeat celebrity game show Taskmaster, hosted by Greg Davies and Alex Horne, will return later this year, with Victoria Coren Mitchell, Alan Davies, Desiree Burch, Guz Khan and Morgana Robinson facing quirky challenges.

Next week On sale Tuesday 15 June

Godfather of Harlem

Forest Whitaker is back for a new run of STARZPLAY's crime drama.

Harley Quinn

In the return of E4's adult animation, Harley battles the newly formed Injustice League.

Turn: Washington's Spies

AMC's thriller starring Jamie Bell follows an 18th-century spy ring.

Euro 2020

Catch the action as England, Wales and Scotland conclude their group matches on ITV.

Cheer on your house as the players dodge the Bludgers and catch the The Golden Snitch™, with the new and officially licensed range of 'Hogwarts™ Quidditch™' Chronograph Watches! Only available from The Bradford Exchange, each precision Quartz movement timepiece is expertly handcrafted to celebrate the fast-paced, airborne sport played on broomsticks, and feature a durable stainless steel casing with black IP-plating in addition to three chronograph dials and stop/start function. The house emblem and colours for the four houses adorns the faces, with a high quality matt finish. Each edition showcases a woven strap in house colours. For the perfect finishing touch, the reverse of each watch is engraved with the official Harry Potter logo and a Golden Snitch™.
